MAKI'S LOST ROLL

Thomaston Finn Accuses Walter Merrill of Robbery, But Latter Is Discharged.

Alex. Maki, who makes his home at the Austin Farm in Thomaston reported to the police in the small hours of Sunday morning that he had been robbed on Winter street, and accused Walter Merrill of the deed. With the aid of an interpreter and the exercise of considerable patience the story of his night's adventures in the tenderloin district was drawn from him by Judge Miller.

Summed up briefly his tale was to the effect that he came over from Thomaston, loafed around in a cigar store for a while, visited the Finnish dancing hall and eventually went down on the Point to see what so many "gentlemen and ladies" were gathered on the street at that hour for. While he was standing there Merrill, he said, jostled against him and pulled his money—a loose roll of bills, and some change—out of his right hand pocket. The amount was $22 and some odd cents. Later he saw Merrill on the other side of the street and called for him to give back his money. Merrill made no answer. When asked why he did not go across the street Maki replied that he didn't feel like it. Still later he taxed Merrill with the robbery, in a Main street restaurant, but got no satisfaction, so he reported the matter to Patrolman John Post, and Merrill was taken into custody.

On cross examination Maki didn't recall having drank anything stronger than strawberry soda.

Merrill, who is an employee of the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corporation, told of meeting Maki about midnight. The latter produced what looked like a milk jar, and asked the witness to go down on Winter street with him and see if they couldn't get it filled with alcohol. Merrill wanted to be obliging and went along with him. They parted at the railroad track, according to the witness who stoutly denied having his hands in Maki's pockets, or of having robbed him. He said Maki told him he had lost $50 playing poker. "Casey" Jones set up an alibi for Merrill by stating that he was with him from 11:30 Saturday night until 2:30 Sunday morning and that there had been no robbery so far as the respondent was concerned.

Frank A. Tirrell represented Merrill, who was discharged.

THE PITH OF THE MESSAGE

President Coolidge Would Reduce War Taxes—Favors World Court Without Adherence To League of Nations.

A legislative program touching almost every aspect of national life was presented by President Coolidge in his first message to Congress.

He endorsed President Harding's proposal for American membership with reservations in the world court; unqualifiedly approved Secretary Mellon's tax reduction plan, and announced his opposition to enactment of soldier bonus legislation.

He also went on record as favoring stimulated consolidation of railroads; reorganization of the railroad freight structure as applied to farm production and government assistance in the disposition of exportable wheat. He declared against price-fixing for farm products; against repeal of the rate section of the Transportation act; and against revision of the tariff law.

Making his first pronouncement on many public questions, the President presented a series of succinct recommendations without attempt at argument. He used exactly nine words in disposing of the bonus question. After urging adequate care for disabled former service men and generosity in providing such care, he said: "I do not favor the granting of a bonus."

The treatment of the world court and the Mellon tax plan was almost as brief. In approaching the court problem he noted that American foreign policy always had been guided by the principles of avoidance of permanent political alliances sacrificing independence and of peaceful settlement of international controversies. He called attention to the United States acting on these principles had for nearly 25 years been a member of The Hague Tribunal and added that the proposed world court was "a new and somewhat different plan."

"This is not a partisan question," he added. "It should not assume an artificial importance. As I wish to see a court established and as the proposal presents the only practical plan by which many nations have ever agreed, though it may not meet every desire, I therefore commend it to the favorable consideration of the Senate, with the proposed reservations clearly indicating our refusal to adhere to the League of Nations."

The endorsement of the Mellon plan was presented in the course of a discussion of the fiscal condition of the nation, during which the President called attention to the fact that the budget system and economy in expenditures, the necessities of the government, exclusive of the Postoffice department, had been brought down to $3,000,000,000.

"It is possible, in consequence, to make a large reduction in the taxes of the people," he continued. "A proposed plan has been presented in detail in a statement by the Secretary of the Treasury which has my unqualified approval. . . . very great service could be rendered through immediate enactment of legislation relieving the people of some of the burden of taxation. . . . Of all services which the Congress can render to the country, I have no hesitation in declaring this one to be paramount."

The President prefaced his message with a tribute to President Harding, declaring "the world knew his kindness and his humanity, his greatness and his character," and that "he has made justice more certain and peace more secure."

"He is gone," Mr. Coolidge said. "We remain. It is our duty under the inspiration of his example to take up the burdens which he was permitted to lay down, and to develop and support the wise principles of government which he represented."

From this basis the President then launched upon his recommendations which, in addition to those relative to taxation, world court, transportation and soldier legislation included:

Government operation of the war-built merchant marine until shipping conditions are such as to allow it to be disposed of advantageously.

Strengthening of the Coast Guard to combat rum smuggling; rigid regulation of the major sources of liquor production; suppression of interstate traffic in liquor and promotion of respect of the law.

Continuation of the policy of restrictive immigration, with immigrants to be selected abroad, and the immediate registration of all aliens.

Strengthening rather than weakening of the army and navy with additional airplanes for the army; more submarines for the navy; and increased defenses for the Panama Canal, of production and greater public protection against "unbearably high" prices along the lines of the recommendation laid down by the Federal Coal Commission.

Relief for the farmer through lower taxes and freight rates; cheaper fertilizers; greater organization which would permit reduction of the wheat acreage; diversification of farming; encouragement in the formation of co-operative marketing organizations; continuation of government loans, and assistance in exportation through the War Finance Corporation.

Sale of Muscle Shoals together with location for an auxiliary steam plant and rights of way for a power line so that the agriculture of the nation may get greater supply and lower cost of fertilizer, with the sale price of the properties not a major consideration.

Anti-lynching legislation, additional appropriations for vocational training in agriculture for negroes, and creation of a commission of whites and negroes "to formulate a better policy for mutual understanding and confidence."

Extension of the Civil Service to the prohibition enforcement field forces exclusive of the members of the present force and placing in the classified civil service of postmasters of the first, second and third classes.

Opening of intra-coastal waterways; control of the flood waters of the Mississippi and Colorado rivers; construction of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway and power project, and promotion of the super-power development of the Northeastern states.

Creation of a commission of judges and lawyers to simplify federal court procedure.

Limitation on child labor through constitutional amendment.

Regulation of radio interference and aviation.

Promotion of highway construction and reforestation.

Relief to occupants of reclamation projects by empowering the Secretary of the Interior to suspend, readjust and reassess all charges against water users.

Prohibition of the issuance of tax exempt securities by constitutional amendment.

In addition to these and a score of recommendations, relatively of less importance, Mr. Coolidge discussed foreign debts, declaring himself against cancellation and for a reasonable adjustment in accordance with the principle adopted for the British debt, and announced he would oppose recognition of Russia so long as the ruling regime refuses to recognize the right of private property ownership and the debt contracted by Russia after the overthrow of the Czar.

BAPTIST MEN'S LEAGUE
Rev. Mr. Day Expresses Pleasure In Having Founded It.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—I was keenly interested in your recent paragraph referring to the Baptist Men's League. That body of mine has been a source of great joy to me through the sixteen years of its existence. When it is considered that Rockland is not within easy reach of speakers needed for such an organization, it is the more remarkable that the League has survived so long and kept up so large a membership. Two things at least seem to be shown, namely, that such a League supplies a real need and that those who have offered it from time to time have extended themselves to make the organization. In making a success of anything of this sort, there must be true, real thought and self-sacrificing interest taken in it by the leaders. This done, the rest is pretty well assured. My regards to the Baptist Men's League, and may it "live long and prosper." (Rev.) W. J. Day.

IRISH STORY TELLER

Seumas MacManus Entertains Large Audience and Nets $50 For Public Library.

Nearly 400 persons filled the auditorium of the First Baptist church Friday night, drawn thither by the desire to hear Seumas MacManus, the famous Irish poet and story teller.

Miss Kathleen Snow, librarian of the Rockland Public Library, presided over the meeting in a very capable manner and gracefully presented the speaker. It was through her efforts that the famous poet was brought to this city and it was her initiative and hard work that carried the sale of tickets to so successful a conclusion that $50 over the very heavy expenses was netted for the library.

Mr. MacManus is a native of Donegal, Ireland and had a brogue which delighted his audience fully as much as his humorous stories. He brought in to play a deep knowledge of Irish folk lore and legends, and recited most effectively from his own writings.

This very happy musical program preceded the lecture:

Organ and piano duo arrangement from Faust, Mrs. Faith Berry, organist, Mrs. Albert Averill, pianist; two Irish songs, The Kerry Dancers, and Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms, by Mrs. Stanley Cushing, soprano; two organ solos, Mrs. Faith Berry; solo Ave Maria, by Mrs. Stanley Cushing, accompanied by Mrs. Averill at the piano, Mrs. Berry at the organ, and Miss Bertha Luce, violinist.

Mr. MacManus accorded an hour in the afternoon to the 400 pupils of the High School and was given a rousing reception. The privilege of hearing such a celebrity as Seumas MacManus in Rockland reflects great credit on Miss Snow and the various societies which cooperated with her including the Shakespeare Society, the Rubenstein Club, the Methebesec Club, the Progressive Literary Club, the Waverne Club and the local chapter of the D. A. R.

WORKING ON PLANS

For Rockland's New High School Building—Important Changes Have Been Made.

Bunker & Savage, architects, are working on plans for the new High School building, and will be ready in a few weeks for competitive bids on the construction.

Some important changes have been made in the original sketches by the building committee, giving the building added capacity by increasing the frontage from 135 feet to 150 feet. The roof of the old building will be replaced by a new one with modern skylights, making the auditorium suitable for a study room. The capacity of the stage and that of the auditorium have also been increased.

The finance committee hopes that the cost of the new building can be taken care of without increasing the burden of the taxpayer to any appreciable extent. Work will begin early in the spring and the dream of a better High School building will soon become a reality in a structure that will be a credit to the city and an important unit in its educational system.

THE "R" CLUB'S OPENER

New High School Organization Has a Good Time at Arcade—Basketball Battles.

Friday night the "R" Club of Rockland High School held a rousing opener in its winter series of get-togethers at the Arcade. Mrs. C. F. Snow, Mrs. J. H. Flanagan and Mrs. R. J. Waggett were chaperones.

The affair started off with three brief but peppy basketball games. The first was between the Freshmen Midgets and the Molain School Five resulting in a victory for the "graders." Two girls teams, the Reds and the Blues, battled in the second contest. These girls are about for first string honors and showed real prowess in this contest. The third game was between varsity teams from Rockland and Rockport High Schools and resulted in a clean-cut victory for the home team.

When the games were over the student four piece orchestra, under the direction of Saul Polise provided excellent music for a fine dance which lasted until 11 o'clock.

While all this was going on another High School basketball team going under the modest title of "Doc Frohock's Wonders" were being beaten 31 to 25 in Tenant's Harbor. The invaders were given an honorary clam shoveler social after the battle and are eager for a return engagement.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

THE CAGED BIRD

If a bird in a cage can sing, my dear, As though the days of the Spring were here; If a bird, forgetting the time of year, Can sing in a room that is dark and dim, As though he sang on greenling limb, Yea, sing for those who imprison him; If a bird, when all he knows are gone To the lovely south or the crimson dawn, Can sit alone and can still sing on.

Surely then you and I can sing, Whatever shadows around us cling, Or what the moment may chance to bring. Surely then you and I can be, Though bound in body, in spirit free, Can sing a little as well as he. For few shall find what they most desire, We are all shut in with our strands of wire, Till hearts grow heavy and bodies tire.

We may not labor at what we dream, But the whistling boy has the willing team, And a little song makes a shorter seam. We lose some loves as we pass along, There are some so far, there are some so wrong, But still there is joy enough for a song. No night so dark but the dawn is near— Oh, we can find some thought to cheer, If a bird in a cage can sing, my dear! —Douglas Malloch.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

How engaging is the picture today presented by Rockland places of business.

In the Christmas shopping season patriotic citizens make it a particular obligation to spend their money with the home town merchants, who have enterprisingly stocked their stores with special goods and which enterprise should not be suffered to go unrecognized. The Courier-Gazette points with pride to the attractive announcements with which Rockland merchants embellish its columns, recommending them to the consideration of its multitude of readers and confident that in them will be found a solution of all the questions of gift making which in this particular time are of such chief importance to man, woman and child.

FRANK W. ROOD

Death came suddenly at 7 o'clock Sunday morning to Frank W. Rood, who for the past six months has been acting as treasurer of the Deep Sea Fisheries, Inc. He had been absent from his duties about a month due to complications of heart trouble and asthma, but there had been no suspicion that his illness would terminate fatally so soon. Funeral services were held at his late residence on Talbot avenue at 10 o'clock this forenoon and interment was in Achorn cemetery.

Mr. Rood was born in Hartford, Conn., 62 years ago and prior to coming to this city had been in the employ of the American Surety Co. 18 years as a certified public accountant. Although he had been but briefly a resident of Rockland, he had already made many friends here to whom the news of his death is a distinct shock.

Mr. Rood is survived by his wife, and one son, Frank.

COUNTRY'S APPROVAL

Being Voiced On President Coolidge's Message—Cordell Hull Rebuked.

Impatient citizens of the United States who marvelled at President Coolidge's long continued silence, have read his message, and are convinced that when he did say something it was worth listening to. The New York Herald (Independent) which made a very critical analysis of the message on the morning following its delivery published the following editorial Saturday, under the caption "A Welcomed Message."

"The country's reception of President Coolidge's message ought to delight the man in the White House, although it is no more than the document, as a whole, deserved. The message had the qualities of clearness and brevity and the advantage of being heard. Everybody to whom it came, whether by printed page or wireless, retained interest to the end. It had a national appeal in that it was typically American. No visionary, no internationalist, was speaking to the country."

"The quality which carried most weight, however, was courage. Those who had imagined the President colorless or timid were entirely relieved of their error. Mr. Coolidge's unqualified declaration for the Mellon tax reduction plan and against the bonus and his refusal to accept political quackery as a remedy for the farmers' troubles were complete evidence of the President's backbone."

"The St. Paul Dispatch remarks that the message 'conveys the President himself to the nation.' That is true in the sense that there were millions to whom the President, in spite of his Massachusetts record, was still an unknown quantity. They know him now. 'Applause for the message comes not merely from the North and East, where the President is most familiar. The editorial opinions expressed in the newspapers of the West and South, irrespective of party allegiance, show how much Mr. Coolidge's candor and courage are admired.

"At a time when political cleavage is very different from what it used to be this wave of favorable comment is significant. It shows that the people have confidence and faith in the man whom circumstances have made their Chief Executive. They like his sturdy New England way of saying things briefly and bluntly. They like his refusal to straddle on any issue, even when they may not agree with his stand. They like his modest but firm assumption of national leadership."

And the Herald, in the same issue, takes to task those Democrats who criticize the message for purely partisan purposes. Under the caption, "Cordell Hull Makes a Face," the Herald says:

"Party chairmen often have a delusion that they must denounce any utterance of the leader of the opposite party, no matter what its merits. So we find Cordell Hull, head of the Democratic National Committee, making faces over President Coolidge's message. Chairman Hull describes the message as 'a bid for the Presidential nomination in 1924 and the support of the predatory special interests in the campaign to follow.'"

"None of the other candidates has made a bid for the nomination by coming out against the bonus. None other

If you want to save fuel this winter, come in and see us today

YOU cannot afford to waste fuel this winter. It is the public duty of every householder to make the most of every log in his woodpile and every pound of coal in his bin.

That is the purpose of the Glenwood Single-Pipe Heating System. Not only will it burn any kind of fuel—wood, coal, soft coal or coke—but it will cut down considerably the amount of fuel you generally use.

Glenwood Single-Pipe Economics

1—Heats the house, not the cellar.

2—Heats cool air drawn down from inside the house, not the cold air from outdoors.

3—Does not waste heat in walls and floors and up the chimney.

4—Heats the rooms themselves, not a long system of pipes.

5—Regulated as easily as a clock—by the Glenwood Regulating Damper.

Easily and Quickly Installed

We shall be glad to show you how this Modern system will save fuel for you this winter. Estimates will be furnished free if you wish advice on installation.

Pipe models of this same furnace may be had in several sizes for coal or wood.

Miss Reed, who was valedictorian of the 1920 class of Rockland High School is a junior at Maine. She will make the trip to Indianapolis in company with ten other students, and a side trip to Niagara Falls is planned.

It isn't often that a traffic officer gets chased off the job, but that's what happened to George J. Kenney Saturday afternoon. George was making graceful gestures in front of the Street Railway waiting room at The Brook and trying to keep trolley cars, motor cars and citizens from getting tangled up, when he was amazed to see a motor car bearing down on him, with a badly frightened woman at the helm. The patrolman tried to dodge but the motor car kept persistently on his trail and finally knocked him flat on the pavement. Mr. Kenney was up again in a moment, not half so scared as the woman, Miss Annie Dyer, who had lost control of the car because the steering gear had become disarranged. The always courteous George hastened to reassure her, and the incident ended happily.

THE DIFFERENCE

Between OUR compensation insurance SERVICE and that of others, is worth your while to know.

(1) Whenever possible, we secure schedule and experience rates, which are usually lower; others don't;

(2) WE PAY OUR OWN CLAIMS, DRAWING THE COMPANY'S CHECK RIGHT HERE IN ROCKLAND; the others have to wait until some one away draws and sends check;

(3) WE PAY YOUR INJURED EMPLOYEE EVERY WEEK; others never have, and probably never will do that.

We know that YOU are not getting such REAL compensation SERVICE unless you are getting it from us.

Edwin Libby Relief Corps is making preparations for the sale and supper Thursday. It is planning to give the patrons full value for their money.

Miss Leona Reed of Rockland has been elected secretary of the Junior class at University of Maine. Maynard Lincoln of Thomaston is a member of the executive committee. The president of the class is George Gruhn, the football star.

David Goldberg of the Modern Pants Co., who strained himself quite badly a month ago, and who had an attack of grippe on top of that, is able to be out again and to do a little work at the plant. He suffered a considerable loss of weight during his confinement to the house.

In response to a wide-spread demand Manager Benson has booked the Jimmie Evans Musical Revue for a return engagement at Park Theatre the week of Dec. 17. This will be good news for those who enjoyed one of the cleanest and most popular musical bills that has been presented in Rockland for a long time.

Ralph Baker, who came to Rockland with several polo teams last season, is now located at 87 Winter street, Gardiner. He writes to a member of The Courier-Gazette staff that Gardiner is talking polo this season and wants to know what Rockland is going to do. Apparently nothing until somebody gets a lease of the Arcade.

Many of our readers are familiar with the Mathias Ulmer house on the Old County road. They should also see the hooked rug made by Mrs. Mary E. Sacker into which is interwoven a very faithful likeness of the residence. It is a remarkable piece of workmanship, and money cannot buy it from S. Nilo Spear, owner of the Ulmer house, to whom Mrs. Sacker presented the rug.

Harry D. Phillips an assistant engineer of the Fire Department, who has been confined to the house since Nov. 19 with blood poisoning is rapidly recovering. His condition at one time was considered very serious. Friends will be very glad to see the genial Harry at the wheel again.

The Cardinal Club has pledged itself to earn $100 and as much more as possible with its dance in Temple hall, Thursday night. The proceeds will go to the new High School building fund. Marston's Orchestra will furnish music. Miss Annie Blackington, Mrs. C. S. Beverage and Mrs. John O. Stevens constitute the very energetic committee in charge.

A Courier-Gazette reporter sauntering in the outskirts of the city Sunday afternoon found folks in their shirt-sleeves picking summer jossies and one man was digging a mess of dandelion greens. At The Meadows the reporter saw Nilo and Gene pitching horse shoes, the former making a desperate endeavor to recover a lost championship. House doors and windows were open, and it certainly didn't look very wintry.

SO THIS IS WINTER!

By good rights on the 10th day of December we should be out shoveling sidewalks or wearing a fur coat with the collar turned up.

"About this time," says the Almanac, "the ground goes on to say that between the 1st and the 20th snow may be expected. But the almanacs are all out of kilter, and the man who predicted an open winter is living, temporarily, on the fat of the land. Folks are too busy picking pansies, buttercups and dandelions to bother about snow."

"Dandelions!" So exclaimed Clerk of Courts Milton M. Griffin yesterday. "Come up on the Court House lawn and pick a whole bouquet."

But it remained for Capt. "Stall" Eaton to cap the climax. "Come down on Masonic street," said he, "and I'll show you frogs in the mud puddles."

And this explains why the snow shovel remains in the attic, and the moth balls are still in the fur coat.

The December session of the Knox County Ministerial Association was held yesterday at the Methodist church in Camden. The principal speaker was Captain H. E. Dixon of the Salvation Army, whose excellent address on "The Evangelical Enemy" contained so much of interest that an abstract will be published at the earliest opportunity. A number of questions were considered and debated by the Association but action will not be taken before the next meeting, which will be held at the Baptist church in Thomaston.

A ghoul of the sea was at work behind The Courier-Gazette building yesterday in the shape of the Bicknell lighter "Radium" Capt. E. W. Freeman, pulling the spart out of the old two-masted schooner J. S. Glover. The Glover, in company with another old timer, the George W. Collins, built in Lamaine in 1876, came to rest their weary old bones there two years ago and the action of ice and tide has completely ruined them. A little over a year ago the well known Mary Brewer, at one time queen of the Bicknell fleet, came down from Boston to join them and today the tide rises and falls in her hold. She was built in Castine in 1852 and for years was one of Rockland's crack speedsters. The hulk of the Glover will be righted today and make its last voyage, ending at Sandy Beach, Southend, where she will serve as a breakwater for the Gamage shipyard. How many citizens of the older generation have recollection of these vessels under happier circumstances?

Too much of a good thing is the way the clothing dealers regard the present mild weather. "By this time," said one of them yesterday, "the average man would be buying his second pair of rubbers." And this, it appears, is only a sample of the grievance which the clothing dealer has against the weather bureau.

An attempt is being made to float the schooner Frank Brainerd, partly owned in Portland, which went ashore at West Gouldsboro last winter in a heavy gale. A cargo of empty barrels, which will be used in boosting the Brainerd, was taken to West Gouldsboro by the schooner Bloomer last week.

Grube Cornish of Augusta, secretary of the State Board of Charities and Correction, will give a free lecture at 7:45 at the First Baptist church Friday night on "What Our State Is Doing For Its Neglected and Dependent Children and Its Worthy Mothers." Walter Ramsdell. The ad. runs a large picture of Mr. Ramsdell with a story of his rise in the Sunshine State. He appeared in the picture much as he did when he was with the Burpee Furniture Co. except that he has added a little weight and a pair of tortoise shell glasses.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and Standard Bearers will hold an open meeting at the Methodist church Friday evening. Members are requested to respond to roll call with Christmas thoughts. The subject will be "Japan" and Mr. Allen will be the speaker. There will be a reading by Miss Lillian Merrill, a poem by Mrs. Ruth Ellingwood and a piano solo by Herbert Prescott. Refreshments will be served and everyone, whether a member of the Missionary Society or not, is invited to be present.

Another important step toward bringing about cleaner conditions in Rockland was made by Sheriff Thurston late Saturday night when narcotic seizures were made at the home of John Mealey and Linnie Carter, 54 Winter street; and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mills, 52 Winter street. With Sheriff Thurston were two of his deputies, Condon and Orbeton, and the raid was made in cooperation with Federal Narcotic Agent Flynn of Portland, who was called into the case by Mr. Thurston. Mealey, Mills and Linnie Carter were taken to Portland where they are now in the Cumberland county jail awaiting trial in U. S. District Court. Mrs. Mills instead of being taken to Portland, was arraigned before Judge Miller, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. She pleaded guilty and asked to be sent to jail for two months that she might recover from the use of narcotics. Her request was granted.

CHRISTMAS MAILING

One Of the Important Things About It Is To Mail Packages Early.

Postmaster Blethen reminds patrons of the local postoffice again of the importance of mailing their Christmas packages early and of preparing them for mailing strictly in accordance with the following suggestions. Prepay postage fully on all matter. Address all matter plainly and completely, giving street address whenever possible.

Place sender's name and address in upper left corner of address side.

JUDGE MILLER'S COURT

A report prepared by Walter H. Butler, recorder of Rockland Municipal Court, shows some highly interesting statistics for the year ending yesterday. The total number of cases tried was 563, the criminal cases numbering 366 and the civil cases 197. There was received from fines, costs and fees, the sum of $2903.12, which was paid into the county treasury. To the State Highway Commission was paid the sum of $214, collected for violations of the automobile law. To the city treasury was paid the sum of $20, collected for violations of the city ordinances. Cash bail to the amount of $4400, was forfeited in appealed cases, and paid to the clerk of courts. The receipts from all sources reached the impressive total of $7537.29, a showing which certainly will please the taxpayers of Knox County, besides serving as evidence that an honest, vigorous and impartial effort is being made to enforce the law.

Recorder Butler says: "A report of this kind has never heretofore been submitted or required, but it is now offered in the belief that such a report is proper and should be required of every public office."

Pack articles carefully in strong durable containers. Wrap parcels securely but do not seal them except when bearing a printed label or indorsement reading: "Contents: Merchandise—Fourth Class Mail. Postmaster: This parcel may be opened for postal inspection if necessary," as sealed parcels not so labeled or indorsed are subject to postage at the letter rate.

Parcels may be marked "Do not open until Christmas." Do not inclose letters with parcels, as doing so would subject entire parcels to letter postage.

Written greetings such as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With Best Wishes, and name, or symbols for the purpose of description may be inclosed with fourth-class (parcel post) mail. Books may bear simple dedicatory inscriptions not of a personal nature. Other written additions subject parcels to letter postage. Communications prepaid at the first-class rates may be sent with parcels prepaid at the fourth class rate by securely attaching the envelopes containing the letters or other written matter to outside of parcels.

"Peter's Best Seller," by Margaret R. Piper. Just a pretty love story with sufficient misunderstandings and heart aches to keep the reader wondering what will happen next and who will win out. The heroine has a mind of her own, while the hero is not quite certain whether he has one or not, until his heart shows him the way to happiness and hard work. Hence his "Best Seller." ### JIMMIE EVANS, ET ALS

Popular Musical Revue Is Coming Back To Rockland For Week's Engagement.

Long experience as a showman has taught Manager Benson of Park Theatre to "tune in" for public sentiment. He hadn't been doing this only a short time after Jimmie Evans left town before he found a very strong sentiment in favor of getting the big musical revue back here for a return engagement at the earliest possible moment.

He found by a rapid working of the wires that Jimmie and his associates were just as anxious to visit Rockland again as Rockland was to have them come. The upshot of it was that Manager Benson has signed up for this popular crew for the week of Dec. 17, which same begins next Monday.

It is a safe bet that 90 percent of those two weeks ago will want to do so again, and those who missed the musical revue will not get caught napping again. It will also be the week before Christmas, which means that holiday shoppers can kill two birds with one stone when they come to Rockland. They can not only trade in the best stores east of Portland, but they can drop into Park Theatre and enjoy a good feature picture, good dancing, good singing and the classy costumes of a big city performance. They will have a big hand for Jimmie Evans and Tom Carroll—adv.

CHAPLAIN WEBBER GOING

State Prison Official Becomes Superintendent of the State School For Girls.

At a meeting of the trustees of the State School For Girls at Hallowell, Rev. Edward W. Webber, chaplain at the State Prison, and a former trustee of the institution, was elected superintendent, in place of Miss Gertrude L. MacDonald, resigned.

Mr. Webber and his wife will assume charge of the institution as soon as can be arranged. The work together. There are 35 officers connected with the institution. Mr. Webber, who is well known as a pastor of the Universalist church, has held pastorates in Rumford, Hallowell and other towns previous to becoming chaplain at the State Prison, and was formerly of New Gloucester.

Mrs. Webber is a native of that town and a woman of rare culture, education and understanding of human nature; the two together will make an ideal team for the difficult work they have undertaken. Miss MacDonald, who has been for about 15 years superintendent of the Hallowell School, has been reluctantly released by the board of trustees, her continued ill health making the change imperative.

EMPIRE THEATRE

A startlingly dramatic defense of wedlock and the home is "Dinner," the film showing the last times today and tonight at the Empire Theatre. Jane Novak gives a wonderful performance as the young wife-mother who is forced to fight against wealth and business success for her husband's affections.

The attraction at the Empire Wednesday and Thursday will be the William Fox offering, "St. Elmo," starring John Gilbert, supported by such an excellent cast as Barbara La Marr, Beale Love, Warner Baxter, Nigel De Brulier and Lydia Knott. It tells the story of a man's love for his brother-in-law and the love of his brother-in-law for the man's wife. The picture is a masterpiece of love, drama and action.

PORT CLYDE

Dear Friends—We met tonight to celebrate the birthday of a very dear friend. To wish him joy in every way. And birthdays without end. He's lived right here among us. For fifty years and more. May we each be here to greet him. May we each be here to share his joys. We bring no costly offerings. Just neighborly affection. Or in spirit of redemption. For the gift from the heart is priceless. And as true the aging of old, the gift without the giver is bare. So here's to you, my neighbor, friend. While we feast with you tonight. Let us lift our hearts in thankful praise. For past days, and future ones bright. The evening was spent with music from a fine Victrola loaned by Mrs. R. L. Coase and operated by Donald Perry. The big rug was removed from the parlor floor, some dance records set in motion and every one was tripping the light fantastic, with Mr. Hall doing a very efficient job of prompting. Old-time and modern dances were enjoyed, and refreshments of punch and home made candies were served. After singing "God be with you" all we met again was the birthday party. Mr. Hall gave happy returns of the day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Pease, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Pease, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. John Mariner and children, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wellman, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Dyer and son, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Bennett, Donald Perry and Samuel Pease.

MANY RESERVATIONS

Are Being Made For Chamber of Commerce Open Forum
Friday Night.

Reservations made so far at the Chamber of Commerce office for tickets to the Open Forum meeting, which will be held at the Thorndike Hotel, Dec. 14, at which time Chauncey S. S. Miller, Publicity Director of the Mercantile Insurance Company of New York, will speak on "Waste in Advertising," point to a goodly crowd, as merchants and many others are availing themselves of the opportunity of hearing this authority on advertising. It is well known that many business establishments are suffering from leaks which they have not yet been able to find. In many instances where a diligent investigation has been carried on it has been found that the greatest waste was in advertising, not because they were advertising, but because they were advertising and not getting results. This is a phase of the question which Mr. Miller will discuss, and it should be worth many dollars to every business man to know where to look for leaks.

Mr. Miller is a national figure in the advertising game. He was affiliated for many years with mercantile interests, and knows the problems of the merchant from the ground up. He has addressed the New England Advertising Clubs' Convention a number of times, as well as other organizations and Chambers of Commerce throughout the country.

No doubt that many of the merchants who have it in mind to attend this meeting, have not sent in their reservation cards. The Chamber of Commerce office would appreciate very much their turning in their cards as quickly as possible, so that it may accurately determine what number of reservations to make for the supper, which will be served at 7 o'clock. Tickets can be procured at the Chamber of Commerce office.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Schools Are Busily Engaged In Their Sale.

A snappy but good spirited fight is on between the schools of Rockland, Camden and Thomaston for the honor of winning the silver cup which Mrs. Sarah Rideout Abbott of Saco, president of the Maine State Parent-Teacher Associations and member of the executive committee of the Maine Public Health Association is to award the winner in this inter-city contest for the best results in the sale of Christmas Health Seals, based on the sales made by the schools of the three cities in proportion to the number of pupils enrolled.

In addition to the inter-city contest prizes are to be awarded in each of the three cities to the school which makes the largest total sale of seals and another set of prizes—one for each city—to the schools which make the largest sale in proportion to their enrollment. In all three cities the local parent-teacher associations are taking an active interest in the results and are encouraging the children to do their level best. This effort on the part of the youngsters and of the grown-ups as well, is directed toward acquiring additional funds with which the Maine Public Health Association attacks the cause of sickness.

A great deal of work is being done in Knox County by the association. Many will recall the visit of the health clown, the Jolly Jester, and scores of parents have related how much more attention their children now pay to the simple things of diet, sleeping, etc., than they did before the advent of the Jester. Hundreds of Knox County children are enrolled as Modern Health Crusaders, another method used by the M. P. H. A. to help children acquire health habits. Many health exhibits, health talks and quantities of health literature have been used in the county during the past year through funds derived from the sale of Christmas seals and health bonds. Superintendent Hull of the Rockland schools and Superintendent Lord of the Camden and Thomaston schools are giving their enthusiastic assistance to their pupils in the three-city contest.

Every one is asked to buy many of the seals which are used each year by millions of Americans to decorate Christmas packages and to place on the backs of letters. All of the funds so derived are used in health work and this means the prevention of sickness by the elimination of many of the things which cause sickness.

IT IS RENT FREE

American Legion Has Given Use of Limerock Street Building As a Patriotic Duty.

"Cast thy bread upon the waters and it will come back a stone" may be a garbled quotation but it expresses what has happened of late to Winslow-Holbrook Post, American Legion. In company with the rest of this community the men of the Post and the women of the Auxiliary recognized the dangerously overcrowded condition of the High School and in an effort to do a community service offered the city and school authorities the use of the Legion building, rent free.

This offer was accepted by the city and the building occupied by the commercial department of the High School. No rent is paid and the city's liability is limited to heating and upkeep, estimated at $750 annually. As a result of the school's occupancy many of the Legion activities have been held elsewhere, including the suppers, now given in the vestry of the Congregational church.

The rub comes in the fact that a rumor has gained wide circulation that the city has been obliged to pay a very large rental. As a result, there has been a slackening in the very generous public support heretofore enjoyed by the organization. When the splendid action of the Legion in offering its home to relieve a public menace is understood an entirely different spirit must prevail.

GO WEST, YOUNG MAN!

Rockland Boy Who Heeded
This Command Now Making Good on Milwaukee
Journal.

Out in the great Wisconsin metropolis, Milwaukee, a city of 457,147 population there is published a great daily newspaper, the Milwaukee Journal, in whose machinery a Rockland boy forms an important cog. Reference is had to Arthur P. Hall, age 23, son of Mrs. Annie Hall of The Courier-Gazette staff. Since allying his interests with those of the Journal little less than a year ago, this youngster has been advanced rapidly and now holds the important office of Assistant Manager in the advertising and merchandizing department. In a paper with a daily circulation of 105,000 this position carries with it tremendous responsibility. The Journal has recently laid the cornerstone of a $1,750,000 home which when completed, will give the paper 100 per cent expansion. In this great development it may easily be imagined that the ambitious young advertising man may take on new responsibilities.

In addition to his service in the advertising and merchandizing lines two other burdens are accorded Mr. Hall. The first is to assist in the publication of "The Retail Journal," a trade magazine put out monthly by the office. The second and more important function is to take an active part in the staging of the "Food, Household and Electrical Exposition," a food show characterized by rival newspapers as "America's greatest household exposition." This show is sponsored annually by the Milwaukee Journal as a part of its public service. An idea of the magnitude of the undertaking may be gained from the fact that during the week there were over 120,000 paid admissions. The task of piloting this enterprise and much of the executive work in arranging entertainments and booths was handled by the Rockland boy. Out in Milwaukee his associates are giving him the glad-hand on his recent promotion and his host of Rockland friends surely do likewise.

MORRIS A. DENNISON

Morris A. Dennison, former foreman of C. E. Bicknell & Son's lumber yard, died suddenly in the office of that firm Saturday afternoon. He had been in ill health for a long time, but continued uncomplainingly at his work, and at the moment of his death was attending to clerical matters in connection with his duties in the yard, joking as he did so with Mr. Bicknell and others in the office. Suddenly Mr. Bicknell heard a sound as of heavy breathing, and looking up saw that Mr. Dennison's head had fallen back. Mr. Bicknell ran to Silsby Hospital, where he was fortunate enough to find Dr. H. W. Frohock and Dr. Harold Jameson. They did everything possible to restore the patient, but death had evidently been the matter of a few moments.

Mr. Dennison resided in Stanley lane. He was a native of South Thomaston and a son of the late Samuel Dennison. About 25 years ago he entered the employ of Charles E. Bicknell, and except for a period of sickness a year or so ago had remained steadily at his vocation, proving an especially capable assistant to Mr. Bicknell in his capacity as yard foreman. Patrons found him uniformly courteous, and he was very loyal in his friendship. Mr. Dennison is survived by his wife, and one daughter, Clara. The funeral services will be held in the chapel at Seal Harbor at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

"Did You?" asked his counsel The courtroom's tense! A hundred men sit ready to spring to the bar to take the law into their own hands! On the witness stand, a youth, strong and honorable, yet falsely accused! And his fate hangs upon the skill of Burnt Boot's itinerant lawyer, a man fond of strong drink and idleness.

The story of Love's real sacrifices, of bitter struggles to win wealth and happiness, of battles with Indians, of scheming, evil men and virile youth! The story that envisions the time of Custer, of the great Cold Rushes, the romantic day of days!

Yes, It's a Kineo Pipeless Furnace MADE AT BANGOR, MAINE AT THE LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED

This is not a cheap furnace, it is the best and one of the heaviest built, with asbestos between two double walls, inside the outside wall. All walls made of heavy galvanized iron. With double or single feed door.

Do not let anyone tell you that it is not the best one built, because our price is much lower than other high-grade makes. The difference is in the profit, not in the quality.

I have a cheaper furnace made by the Homer Furnace Company, size 22 inch, price $165.00, but the Kineo is the lowest ever offered. The 20 inch $175.00 or the 22 inch $185.00, all set up.

I am willing to put one of these in any home, if suitable for a one-pipe furnace, with a guarantee to satisfy or take it out after we have had some very cold weather to test it. You need not make any payment until you are satisfied.

I have also made a 20% reduction on Kineo Ranges and Heaters. You can buy an 8-20 Star Kineo Range, with high shelf for $60.80, delivered anywhere in Maine.

What Our Home Artists and Others Are Doing To Forward the Interests of Musical Art.

Friday afternoon a large gathering of members of the Rubinstein Club received with great enthusiasm the following program, distinguished by artistic excellence and arranged by Miss Margaret G. Ruggles:

Prelude of Songs
a. "Homing," del Riego
b. "Daisy Boy," Weatherly
Russian Lullaby, Mrs. Wentworth
Mrs. Brown
Subject for the day—"Snow"
"Gnomes," Liszt
Opera Story—"The Snow Maiden," Mrs. Sanborn
"Song of the Shepherd," Rimsky-Korsakoff
Mezzo—"Snowflakes," Cowen
Miss Harrington
Piano—3d movement of "Norse Sonata," MacDowell
Mrs. Sanborn
"Snowflakes," Elgar
Rubinstein Chorus
Mrs. Berry, conductor
Miss Saville, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Averill,
Mrs. Sanborn, accompanists

The first of a series of monthly musical evenings was given at the Pine Street Congregational church, Lewis, Dec. 2, by Miss Florence A. Wells, organist of the church, assisted by Mrs. Gail Ridgway Brown (wife of Prof. Sydney B. Brown of Bates College), violinist. There was a large audience and the beauties of the new organ were much enjoyed. Each artist made use of one of her own compositions, and Mrs. Brown also played one number composed by her husband. I believe Miss Wells dedicated the organ at the Methodist church in Rockland some years ago, and I recall how delightful her playing was. One number particularly remains in memory—"The Pipes of Pan," by Godard.

The majority of people said the talk made about Mrs. Vernon Castle directed Capt. Robert Tremaine was merely press notice, but apparently here was truth in the matter, as her marriage to Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, a wealthy Chicago coffee merchant, recently took place. It looks as if Irene intended to enter the ranks of the many times married Nat Goodwin. She likes titles, too. Cheer up, perhaps you'll get a duke or an earl or a lord, after a time.

Philadelphia: The inaugural of the new season of Monday morning musicals under the management of Mrs. Harold Ellis Yarnell and Arthur Judson, at the Bellevue-Stratford on Nov. 19, brought the Philadelphia appearance of Sigrd Onegin, whose program revealed why she has been such a sensational success wherever she has appeared, and evoked the desire to hear her in the Wagnerian roles with which she is associated abroad. Her delivery of "The Erlkönig" was superbly dramatic. She opened with two lovely songs of Italian airs, and sang in French and English, her group of American songs being well chosen.

"Appropos of the foregoing and of my item of last week, it is interesting to note what Mephisto has to say touching on Mme. Onegin: "The other day, when I was honoured by a visit of a very distinguished prima donna, I took up with her the question of diction. She did not seem to be particularly impressed. I reminded her, however, that the critics were giving more attention to diction than ever before, and handed her a review by Richard Aldrich of the Times, in which, while speaking enthusiastically of a recital of Mme. Sigrd Onegin, and admitting that she has dramatic temperament well developed which gives power to her interpretation of songs requiring dramatic expression, a strong climax, passionate utterance, and a feeling for fitness for those of another kind, at the same time, he said that her diction in English and German songs was generally none too clear and she did not succeed in making the words an open book.

It is certainly curious that so many of our great artists like Mme. Onegin have not yet fully realized that after all a song is a poem set to music, and even in excerpts from opera, the words have a value, and if the audience cannot understand what is being sung, half the effect that might be made is lost.

I feel that John McCormack is about the finest illustration of good diction before the singing public today, and yet not long ago I heard some one (an amateur singer, to be sure) criticize him because he mouthed his words—said them so plainly that the artistic effect was lost, or something to that effect. "Twas ever thus, however, I feel sure that nine-tenths of the enormous audiences that greet McCormack everywhere he goes would agree that one of the greatest pleasures they get from his singing is because one can understand everything he says. This is true not only of American songs. I am told that his French and Italian and even German are very clearly spoken, that the diction in songs of these tongues is most admirable. They tell a story about McCormack, when he began to sing in his native town of Athlone. One night he sang in a concert. It was a proud event, to be sure. His old nurse was in the audience, and after the concert was over, John remarked to her: "Well, nurse, how did you like my singing? confident, as youth usually is, that she would be full of honeyed things with no stings. Well, dearie," she replied, "if I could have understood anything you said, I think I would have enjoyed it." It is said that McCormack then said there registered a vow that he would learn to sing his words so everyone could understand them. Having heard him sing, I feel sure he kept his vow.

Readers of this column recall with pleasure the appearance in Rockland of John S. Codman, under the auspices of the Rubinstein Club. He later was the soloist at one of Boston's People's Symphony concerts. The Globe said: "Mr. Codman sang the familiar prologue to Leoncavallo's opera 'I Pagliacci.' Cordial applause caused him to add as encore Schumann's song 'The Two Grenadiers,' sung in English. His voice, though not of great volume, is well controlled. His singing showed understanding of the two very different styles of music, Italian Opera of the 1890s and German lieder."

TENANT'S HARBOR DAYS

And the Old-time District School Where Algebra Was Taught.

As I was passing a schoolhouse in Medford today the children came out for the forenoon recess. When I heard their childish shouts my mind reverted to the time I taught school in that two-by-two schoolhouse at Wildcat. That was in December, 1880. Only a little matter of 43 years, but the mind's eye could see plainly the scholars of that day—Les Willard, Eddie Rawley and his sister, Charlie Alley and his brothers and sisters from Allen's Isle, Elmer and Alma Allen (twins), the Elwells, and others. I imagine there were a dozen and a half all told. Teacher, age 15, did a hike with his dinner pail from the Harbor every day, rain or shine—and it was not a snowless winter either—and never skipped a day. Four months, November to February, 81 per month. The old district school had its day, and it wasn't a square deal for the pupils. The districts with a large number of pupils had good teachers and good schools, the small districts, like Wildcat, had poor teachers, like myself, and poor schools. Verily times have changed and amid the changes have come better educational facilities for the country children. I was one of the first to study algebra in the school at the Harbor. One of the prominent men of the village said something like this: "Algebra! Why, they didn't have it in my time. It won't do the scholars any good."

can remember it never did me any particular harm. I recall that "an axiom is a self-evident truth." To be real truthful, that is about all I remember of the study. I never have had any need of it since.
Boze.
Somerville, Dec. 4.
